On Friday, September 14, 2007, Wayne Marshfield, Assistant General Manager of the Delaware County Electric Cooperative (DCEC) was honored at their 63rd Annual Meeting in Delhi, NY. 2007 marks a special anniversary for Marshfield who completes 40 years of dedicated service at the cooperative.

"Wayne has made a tremendous contribution to DCEC." says DCEC System Coordinator Larry (Bucky) Soule. He has always been dedicated to serving the members.

Marshfield, who also serves as Supervisor for the Town of Hamden, began his career as a stock clerk. Throughout his career, he has gotten to know an amazing amount of detail of Delaware and Schoharie Counties, along with the people. "The first time I met Wayne, he asked me if I lived at the house with the special trumpet vine growing near our electric service", said Greg Starheim. "It's amazing how much he knows of the area and how committed he is to serving the cooperatives members. "We are very lucky to have him." said Starheim.
